request and resolution - in my last report to the House of Bishops - have not been answered. This all - places me in a very false position - As to how this continues in action in the heart of our Church. Much depends to the mind of the infidelity - skepticism and indifferentism in Cuba - and to the mind of all classes here - to say nothing of the Church of Rome, - You can judge better than I. —

Much of the criticism must fall on me - as well as on the Church. And the vulgar mind is very apt to think of me - as driven from home to seek my support as best I can - a mere adventurer - living upon the charity of Christian people. -

I am quite willing to be sacrificed for the accomplishment of the Chief Good - but it is pain and grief to me to be misunderstood. - The idle talk which has reached your ears - I have traced - I think - to its source - and will confront it when I reach Cuba. -

I have written this letter because your health does not admit of my talking much to you. -

With much love - I am -

Affectionately Your Friend &c. -
